

Mark Doble

Mark Doble is the CEO at Alexi, a company building an AI that knows the law. Mark received his J.D. from Queen's University in Canada, where he split his time between building software and completing his law school requirements. During his brief stint in a law firm, Mark became convinced that AI would positively impact the legal profession in profound ways, so he quit his job to start Alexi.